ORANGE COUNTY FARMERS' ASS'N NOTES

Notes for week ending April 8:

This week, as last, has been spent largely in returning farm survey records. In the three days spent in the field nine records were returned and three taken. Deep mud on the back roads and the rush of sugaring has prevented more time being profitably spent in this way at present.

The county agent is trying to interest the school children in testing seed corn for their parents. The method used is a simple one, called the rag doll method. This is a piece of cloth with squares marked for different ears of corn in which are placed five kernels from the ear. This is thoroughly soaked and rolled up. A short rag is placed in the middle, which acts as a wick to a tumbler of water over which the roll is placed. By setting this in a warm place, the test will be ready to read in from five to seven days. Not all the schools will be visited this year but co-operating with the different school superintendents, I hope to visit several. Two schools were visited last week with Mr. Patterson in Braintree. This week we plan to visit some others in Braintree and Randolph. Anyone who is interested in this method of testing their seeds will be given full directions by writing the county agent. Can farmers afford not to test their seed when it takes just as much labor to care for a halfstand and it costs so little to find out whether their seed is good or not?

In the farm survey of last year in Randolph, there were several factors which influenced the profits coming from the farm. If all farmers could realize the importance of those factors and plan their farms and farm management accordingly, there would be a good many less discontented men on our Vermont farms. These factors are not ones which can be changed in a minute but a clear realization of their importance will enable the farmers who are making farming a business work towards these goals. One of these factors is the size of the farm and the amount of business which is being handled on the farm. On the 61 Randolph farms it was found that the farms with less than $6,000 capital invested made a labor income of $205. The farms with $6,000 to $10,000 capital made an average labor income of $345. Since practically all our farms are livestock farms, this can perhaps better be expressed in terms of number of productive animal units kept per farm. Twenty-three farms keeping less than 15 productive animal units made an average labor income of $191, but three making more than $300. The 18 farms keeping from 15 to 25 productive animal units made an average labor income of $261, six making over $300. The 20 farms keeping 25 and over productive animal units made an average labor income of $770 and 13 made over $500. That these figures are not local is shown by similar survey figures from other places. In Newbury it was found that the 33 farms having less capital than the average had a labor income of $271 and the 18 farms having more capital invested than the average had labor incomes of $565. Similar figures averaged from eight survey areas give a labor income of $284 for those farms with less than average capital and $438 for those with more than the average. In no case were the arrangements of the figures different than here. Should we be satisfied with the small farm and small business if these figures are true? We may not be able to go out and purchase the larger farm or keep more livestock at once but we can work with that end in view and some at least if they cannot buy more land, can rent some outside and thus increase their size of business. To the others it shows that it is doubly important for them to have the other factors which influence farm profits show better conditions than the average. These will be explained later.

The week of April 17 to 22, the county agent expects to be in the towns on the east side of the county until Friday, Monday visiting schools in Bradford, Tuesday in Newbury, Thursday at a conference in Wells River, Friday at the grange meeting at Orange and Saturday a pruning demonstration there. More particulars will be given later. If you live in one of these towns and wish a call, please let the county agent know at once.

DODD HANDLED HIS MEN WELL

General Francisco Bertani, Carranza Officer, Praises American Cavalry Commander.

El Paso, Tex., April 12.—The efficiency of the American troops is highly praised by the General Francisco Bertani, the Carranza commander at Madera, now on a trip to Juarez.

He says Colonel Dodd handled his men in a masterly way in the Guerrero fight, holding the Villa bandits long enough to cause them to waste an immense amount of ammunition and then scattering them.

The Mexican authorities say they have been unable to get any information about the revolutionist, General Salazar, who crossed the border into Mexico two days ago.

American Consul Letcher of Chihuahua apparently is aiding General Pershing to get supplies.

General Funston has a report that General Pershing is in touch with Consul Letcher and expects to get supplies from Chihuahua.

Messages from General Pershing's headquarters say that Mexicans who had seen Villa on his flight south said the bandit looked thin and emaciated a week ago. Reports, however, are conflicting. One fairly good authority stated that Villa was able to walk the first day after he received his wound, which indicated that no bones were broken.

Aeroplane have covered several hundred square miles of Mexican territory, scouting over a country heretofore unexplored by planes.

Special Agent Rodgers of the state department, assigned to Carranza's headquarters at Queretaro, is detained in Mexico City in connection with commercial questions affecting the hide trade and mining taxes.

All dispatches are said to report conditions quiet throughout Mexico.

Mysterious Suicide.

New Haven, April 12.—Mystery attaches to the identity of a well-dressed man, evidently of Tennessee birth, who shot and killed himself Monday night at a hotel here. The man's clothing was of excellent texture and fashionable cut, and his personal characteristics were those of a man of refinement. Nothing about the clothing gave an inkling to his name or home.

WORRIED OVER ROOSEVELT

Republican Leaders Foresee
Trouble in Trying to Shift Delegations

TO SOME OTHER
EASTERNER

How to Head "Favorite Son"
Delegations Away from Colonel

Washington, D. C., April 12.—Anti-Roosevelt Republican leaders in Congress are busily engaged in striving to find the temper of delegations and prospective delegations from the western states, with a view to ascertaining whom they will support in the national convention when the expected big break-up comes.

In other words, they are feeling out the situation to learn, if possible, to what extent the delegates west of the Alleghenies can be depended on to oppose Roosevelt for the presidency, and what candidate or candidates they will favor.

For the present, at least, the man on whom these anti-Roosevelt leaders talk combining upon is Justice Hughes. It is taken for granted that he will not put himself beyond the pale of nomination—although, as a matter of fact, no one really knows this. Plenty of politicians can be found here who think he will eventually eliminate himself.

But regardless of that, the eastern anti-Roosevelt leaders have sounded out western men enough to learn that they are likely to have trouble when they attempt to shift western delegations to some eastern candidate other than Roosevelt; that a lot of the western delegates will almost certainly flock to the colonel, and that it will be difficult to keep a majority of the convention from him.

What the anti-Roosevelt leaders figure on is this: To allow a brief period for the delegates to vote for favorite sons and discharge their primary or convention obligations; they to attempt, without needless delay, to combine on the strongest man in sight to block the nomination of the colonel. It is obvious that right here will come the tug of war.

A number of the "favorite sons" will be unable to control the delegates who have voted for them at the outset, and there will probably be a sort of scramble for the Roosevelt and anti-Roosevelt lines, with individual delegates consulting their own feelings to a considerable extent.

HUGHES "BOOMLET" 'WAY FROM IOWA

Beats Out Roosevelt Though Senator Cummins, "Favorite Son" Booms Loudest of All.

Des Moines, Ia., April 12.—A boomlet for Charles Evans Hughes in Iowa was demonstrated yesterday in returns from the first presidential preference primary held Monday. Only fractional returns have been received, and while Senator A. B. Cummins gets the delegation to the Republican national convention by a big majority, Hughes carries a few precincts and ran well ahead of Roosevelt. Wilson got the Democratic endorsement without opposition.

The total Republican vote was not over 75,000, and the Democratic 60,000. It may be a week before all the returns are in.

In the Republican vice-presidential vote 126 precincts gave E. J. Burkett of Nebraska 1871, H. G. Webster of Chicago 1311.

Elliott W. Major of Missouri had no opposition for the Democratic vice-presidential nomination.

There were some indications that Democratic insurgents who had a presidential ticket in the field will nominate some of their men, but the returns are so incomplete this cannot be determined for several hours.

SENATE AGAIN PASSES BILL TO PAY BACK STONE RANSOM

Measure Has Been Approved By Upper House Several Times, But Has Always Died in Lower House.

Washington, D. C., April 12.—The Senate yesterday passed a bill to restore $60,000 to American contributors to the ransom fund for Ellen M. Stone, the American missionary kidnapped by brigands in the Balkans in 1901. The bill had passed the Senate several times but never passed the House.

London, April 12.—Official announcement was made yesterday afternoon that a spy, whose name was not given, was executed yesterday.

Won't Have Fight Pictures.

Washington, D. C., April 12.—Customs officials practically have reached a decision to seize the Johnson-Willard fight pictures which were made by a photographic process at a point on the border between the United States and Canada. A new law sustained by the supreme court, forbade bringing the original films into the country, so the promoters brought the films to the border on the Canadian side and made pictures of them with cameras on the American side. Customs officials hold that the intent of the law cannot be defeated by such a process.

PLAN TO BOOST NEW ENGLAND.

Representatives from Every State Gather to Urge Co-operation.

Boston, April 11.—Representatives from every New England state were present at a largely attended meeting in this city last night, called for the purpose of advancing the interests of this section. Governor McCall, who was one of the speakers, said:

"This is a movement to educate the business men of New England up in a sense of their opportunities. There should be co-operation among the states, so far as they have the power to handle the matter of interstate commerce, so as to arrive at a solution of their transportation problems. That lies at the basis of our prosperity."

He advocated also the development of the summer resort business. The meeting endorsed a plan to celebrate the tercentenary of the landing of the Pilgrims. Various recommendations were referred to a committee consisting of C. S. Averill of Worcester, W. E. Carter of Rye Beach, N. H.; Wilbur T. Emerson of Augusta, Me., and Former Mayor John F. Fitzgerald of Boston.
